

Cookie Policy

Which cookies we use, which ones need your permission, and how to change your mind whenever you want.

1. What a cookie is

A cookie is a small file that a website stores in your browser. It is used to remember information between pages or between visits: that you are signed in, which language you prefer, or what you chose about cookies themselves. This policy also applies to equivalent technologies, such as browser local storage.

2. How we ask for your permission

The first time you visit you will see a banner with three options at the same level: accept all, reject all, and configure. Rejecting is as easy as accepting — one click, from the same screen — as required by the Spanish Data Protection Agency.

Until you choose, no cookie other than the strictly necessary ones is set, and no third-party script is loaded. If you choose nothing, nothing further is set.

Your choice is stored in the browser's local storage rather than in a cookie: storing a rejection in a cookie would be self-defeating.

3. Cookies we use

Name or category	Ownership	Type	Purpose	Duration
booklift_session	First party	Strictly necessary	Keeps you signed in to the dashboard.	Session
booklift_cookies	First party (local storage)	Strictly necessary	Stores your cookie choice so we do not ask again.	12 months
Analytics	Third party	Analytics	Measure which pages are visited, in aggregate. Only set if you accept them.	Up to 24 months
Marketing	Third party	Behavioural advertising	Personalise ads and measure campaigns. Only set if you accept them.	Up to 24 months

Strictly necessary cookies are exempt from consent under article 22(2) LSSI, because the service cannot be provided without them. Analytics and marketing cookies are only set if you accept them.

4. How to change your mind

You can change your choice at any time from the «Cookie preferences» link in the footer of every page. You will be asked again if the categories of cookies used change.

You can also block or delete cookies from your browser settings. Note that blocking the strictly necessary ones may prevent the dashboard from working or your session from being kept:

- Chrome: Settings !' Privacy and security !' Cookies and other site data.
- Firefox: Settings !' Privacy & Security !' Cookies and Site Data.
- Safari: Preferences !' Privacy !' Manage Website Data.
- Edge: Settings !' Cookies and site permissions.

5. Third-party cookies and transfers

If you accept the analytics or marketing categories, the corresponding providers may process data on their own account and, where applicable, transfer it outside the European Economic Area with the safeguards set out in the Privacy Policy. Until they are accepted, those providers receive no data at all.

6. Further information

The processing of data obtained through cookies is described in the Privacy Policy. If you have any questions, write to clientes.booklift@gmail.com.
